4. LEGAL BASIS

When processing your personal data, we rely in particular on the following bases:

If the deletion is contrary to legal, contractual, commercial or tax law reasons, in particular statutory retention periods, or overriding interests, the data will be blocked instead of deleted.

You also have the right to withdraw your consent without affecting the lawfulness of the data processing carried out before the revocation.

You have the right to object, on grounds relating to their particular situation, at any time to the processing of personal data concerning you which is based on a legitimate interest. Unless our legitimate interests prevail or the processing serves to assert, exercise or defend legal claims, we will no longer process your personal data.

If you make use of these rights of correction, blocking or deletion or if you wish to revoke a declaration of consent to the processing and use of your personal data in whole or in part, please contact us using the contact details provided in section 11.
